Call 449 if you fail to get the Kentuckian promptly. And if you have a news item, phone it to the same number.

Since President Wilson married a descendant of Pocahontas, he uses the Indian word "Okeh" to O. K. official correspondence. It means "It is so."

Germany claims to have captured 20,000 prisoners and the allies not only claim but show 17,000 already in the wire cages and are being guarded with their own guns and fed on their own rations.

It is rumored that Judge R. W. Bingham, who will inherit $5,000,000 next Saturday from his deceased wife, will buy the Courier-Journal. The Bowling Green News published the report this week.

The big British transport, Carpathia, 13,000 tons, has been sunk by a German submarine off the Irish coast, while bound this way. No less of life reported. The Carpathia was one of the rescue ships when the Titanic went down.

Another report comes this time from Russia by a wireless, that the former czar was executed on July 16, after the discovery of a plot to remove him from the country. So many conflicting reports have been received that little credence can be given to any of them.

Thomas R. Underwood, who got his first newspaper experience as a reporter for the Kentuckian four or five years ago, has been made city editor of the Lexington Herald, on which paper he has been doing local work since completing a course at the State University. He is a born newspaper man and one of the brightest in Kentucky.

FOLLOWING THE FLAG

Sergt. T. T. Winfree and Robert Winfree have arrived overseas.

Lieut. Robert Sory, a brother of Mrs. Will H. Forbes, has arrived overseas.

Capt. J. G. Gaither, M. R. C., left yesterday with his wife and child for Vicksburg, Miss. From there Dr. Gaither will report for active service.

Attorney John Stites is arranging to go to a training camp at the Great Lakes early next month to take a course of training with a view of asking for a commission in the army. Mr. Stites is a veteran of the Spanish American War.

Dr. Austin Bell, another of Hopkinsville's most prominent physicians has given up his practice to enter the service of his country. He has been commissioned a captain and will report August 2 to Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga. Dr. Bell saw active service in the Spanish American War as a surgeon.

Capt. Gilmer M. Bell, is here from Ft. Sam Houston, Texas, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey. He is the only son of the late Gilmer M. Bell, of this city, and has been in the regular army since the Mexican border troubles. He enlisted as a private and successive promotions have advanced him to his present rank.

Bryan Stroube, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Stroube, of Oak Grove, who volunteered for service in the mechanical department, passed the examination at Louisville a few days ago and has been sent to the Great Lakes training school. His cousin, Sam Stroube, who volunteered some weeks ago, accompanied him and reported for training at the same time.

Rodman Meacham, who volunteered a month ago for service in the Engineer Corps of the United States Army, has received notice of his appointment as Captain, with orders to report July 27th to a training camp near Washington. He has been assigned to a regiment which is preparing to depart next month for service overseas. His services were tendered under the call of the Government for experienced engineers in construction work.

HEADED TOWARD BERLIN HUNS IN FULL RETREAT

SINKING OF THE SAN DIEGO IS NOT YET CLEARED UP

Washington, July 20.—Loss of life in sinking off Fire Island yesterday of the United States Cruiser San Diego and caused the ship's destruction is still undetermined tonight at the Navy Department. The announcement was made that 1138 men from the ship have been landed. Unofficial reports said there were 1250 men aboard. If these estimates are correct the loss of life would not exceed seventy-two.

Rear Admiral Palmer, acting secretary of the navy, tonight made public a detailed account of the destruction of the Cruiser, but it added nothing to previous reports of survivors.

The belief that the San Diego was a victim of a mine grow among naval officials after the commander of the American patrol boat had reported that the craft under his command had picked up several mines of foreign design.

MINES NOT A SUBMARINE

CAUSED THE SINKING OF THE SAN DIEGO—30 OR 40 LIVES LOST.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, July 20.—Reports today showing five or six mines destroyed in the vicinity last night strengthening the opinion of naval officers here that an enemy submarine was not responsible for the sinking of the San Diego. They say it was sunk by mines.

New York, July 20.—Between thirty and forty persons lost their lives by the sinking of the San Diego yesterday, according to a semi-official estimate made tonight.

STILL PRESSING ON.

The Americans and French who advanced an average of three miles on a front of 25 miles Thursday, continued their offensive to-day with increasing success, using eight divisions, and holding fast the plateau southwest of Soissons.

German reserves were hurried up but could not check the victorious advance.

The allied plunge south of Aisne, as far as definitely known, advanced to an extreme depth of nearly six miles, reaching Buzancy, southeast of Soissons.

The railroad from Soissons to Chateau Thierry is thus under direct allied fire, while the railroad leading from Courmelles to Longpont is cut.

Further south the allies are within seven miles of the only other railroad the Germans can rely upon to move supplies to their forces along the Marne from Chateau Thierry to Dormans.

This railroad communication of the enemy is in extreme jeopardy.

The allies advanced to an average depth of about three miles at all points.

UNION CONGRESS TONIGHT.

The Union C. E. Congress will meet in the Bible school room of the Ninth Street Christian church at 6:15 p. m., July 21. A full attendance is desired.

A call for 185 more white men from Hopkins county has been received for July 23 but only 119 remain in class one and these will all be sent. The others will have to be chosen after the new registrants are classified.

REGISTRATION BIG SUCCESS

WAR SAVINGS STAMP DRIVE
YESTERDAY REPORTS SEVERAL DISTRICTS OVER THE TOP.

The registration throughout the county yesterday was a notable success so far as could be learned last night. Everywhere everybody apparently indicated his loyalty by coming out and registering in compliance with the instructions and regulations laid down by the Council of Defense.

Everywhere there was a committee of ladies to solicit the sale of War Savings Stamps and no finer spirit of loyalty, patriotism and devotion to country was ever shown by anyone than by these good women, who labored long and earnestly yesterday, each one vying with the other as to the kind of report she would turn in.

To aid every section of the county in the registration and sale of stamps, speakers were sent to nearly every school house in the county to address the citizens upon the necessity and purposes of the campaign and to answer any questions in regard to same to get the matter clearly before the public. With very few exceptions fine crowds were out to meet these men who sacrificed their time and business to go on these tours. Fine audiences were at Fruit Hill, Dogwood, Kelly, Crofton, Parkers, Howell, Fairview, Newstead, Gracey, Bainbridge, etc. Many places had not been heard from last night.

Mrs. Kolb received reports last night of several places that had gone above their quota and many more are expected to do likewise. So far 100 names have been enrolled on the Limit Club roster and many others are yet to come in. The committee is expected to increase this list to 200 or 250. The drive will not let up till the "shame" has been wiped from the face of old Christian.

CHAMPION DISTRICT.

Reports last night would indicate that VanCleve School District is the champion district in the registration and W. S. S. drive. There were less than 75 whites eligible to register and everyone registered. The quota for the district including the colored people was $7,500 and the amount subscribed last night was over $10,000, and the district has furnished so far five Limit Club members. Can any school district beat it? Who'll be next.

American League Quits.

Chicago, July 20.—American League baseball parks will close their gates for the duration of the war, after tomorrow's game, unless unexpected developments occur, President Johnson announced tonight.

In yesterday's class of draftees they ranged from J. M. Sharber, weighing 102 pounds to Lencie Futrell who looked as if he might weigh 300 pounds. They were both left until next time when class one will be exhausted.

THIRTY TWO SELECTIVES

FINE BODY OF YOUNG MEN WILL GO TO CAMP TAYLOR TO-MORROW.

Another detachment of soldiers was chosen yesterday to be sent to Camp Taylor on an early train tomorrow morning. Many of the men were lower class men recently elevated to class one. About 45 men reported. Of the original list, one or two were ill, some had enlisted in other bunches and there was one slacker whose name has been called time and again.

When volunteers were called for eight responded and 24 were selected, making 32 in the party.

OFFENSIVE SURE ENOUGH

COMPARED TO BATTLE THAT
FOCH PLANS THE PRESENT
BLOW IS BUT MINOR ONE.

Washington, July 20.—War department officials expect the real counter-offensive against the Germans to be launched later in the present year. This was disclosed to members of the house military committee by General March, chief of staff, who indicated that the employment of possibly eight American divisions in the present double battle on the Aisne-Marne-Rheims front would not affect materially plans to hurl overwhelming man-power into the great struggle to come when the effort to beat the enemy back off French and Belgian soil begins.

It was made plain that the smashing attack of Franco-American forces on the Aisne-Marne line is yet regarded as only a minor operation in comparison of what is to come. The success of the drive launched yesterday by General Foch, however, has already been startling. Official reports from Paris tonight said that 17,000 prisoners and 360 guns had been captured. The Berlin statement admitted French advances but ignored American participation and claimed 20,000 prisoners had been taken by the Germans in their drive launched last Monday. Apparently the enemy commanders dare not admit to the German people that American armies are already fighting over a long front and scoring repeated successes over veteran German divisions.

INCIDENT OF AIR FIGHTING

London, July 20.—How a British flying squadron turned the tables on German airmen who had been bombing their aerodome is related by Lieut. W. A. Barnes of the Royal Air Force.

"We had been giving the Hun a lively time," the officer says, "bombing his dumps, billets, communications and towns nightly. When, therefore, he bombed our aerodome two evenings in succession and completely upset all our arrangements, it was generally agreed he had scored one over us. Much as his enterprise was admired, however, it was decided to try to check it.

The plan evolved was simple. The next day the British machines were flown over to a neighboring aerodome where it was believed they would be safe from raids. Then they started off just after dusk to make a reprisal attack.

"We arrived at the enemy's lair," said Lieut. Barnes, "at a most opportune moment, for a second relay of his machines were just 'taxying' across the ground to 'take off' in the flare path. In our wildest dreams we had not hoped for such luck as this, and every possible advantage was taken of it.

A few well-directed bombs, dropped right in among the machines that were awaiting their turn to take off, set fire to two and badly damaged the others. Another machine was seen to crash whilst actually taking off in the flare path. Some equally well-directed incendiary bombs set fire to a large shed, and then the real fun of the night began.

"By this time the first relay of the enemy machines, sent as we afterwards learned to bomb our own aerodome again, began to return. As they were on their own side of the lines, and in blissful ignorance of the fact of their aerodome, they were flying with navigation lights full on, thereby giving their position away in the darkness.

"Relieved of our bombs, we were able to give fight, and successfully shot down one in flames, while another was seen distinctly to crash on top of a wood.

"Having thus paid our debts in full we left the remainder to land on a bomb-battered aerodome—no envy."

Paris, July, 20.—The Germans were violently attacked on their right flank and south of the Marne, says the war office statement tonight. They have been compelled to retreat and recross the river. The French hold the entire southern bank of the Marne. More than twenty thousand prisoners and more than four hundred guns have been taken.

London, July 20.—No Germans remain south of the Marne except the prisoners and the dead. This message was sent by Reuter's correspondent to the French headquarters, timed Saturday evening.

Too Many Prisoners.

With the American Army on the Aisne and Marne Front.—One American unit, since Thursday, has taken 2,889 prisoners, including ninety-one officers, while another American unit on the northern front has taken 2261 prisoners, including thirty-two officers. Among the prisoners were one colonel and two majors all in one group.

WAR SUMMARY.

Out of the news filtering through the clouds of battle, over the ensanguined field between the Marne and Soissons, there came to light two significant reports today.

The allies are thundering at the gates of Soissons, scarcely a mile and a half from the center of the city, while the Germans are retreating across the Marne between Fossey and Neussley.

German reserves rushed up the western side of Soissons and Chateau Thierry have slowed the progress of the Franco-Americans, but nowhere stopped it.

Reports of the German retreat across the Marne come as confirmation of the success of the allies far to the north. The German forces south of the river must be extricated quickly if at all.

French reports say the Germans have been driven from south of the Marne, but it is probably the movement really is a hurried retreat ordered by the German command.

From the Marne to Rheims the French and Italians three days ago in retirement are now advancing and this is an indication of a German retirement here too.

Italian troops north of Lake Garva have made considerable gains in local attacks.

What the Home Folks Get.

Berlin via London, July 20.—While admitting certain gains by the British and also by the French, the latter in the Aisne-Marne battle, German headquarters in today's statement, declares the enemy thrusts southwest of Soissons, in the center of the line and northwest of Chateau Thierry have been repulsed.

The German war office adds, however, that the German troops have been withdrawn from the south bank of the Marne without being noticed by the enemy.

RED CROSS FEEDS ALSATIANS

Three Thousand Who Escaped in First Weeks of War Are Being Cared For.

Washington.—Three thousand loyal Alsatis who escaped across the frontier in the first weeks of the war when the battle line swung back and forth across southern Alsace, are now being fed with American food. They are quartered in nineteen villages safe on the French side of the war zone where American troops are now stationed.
They lost all their property three years ago and what little money they had was soon exhausted. With the increasing cost of living and the inability of their French neighbors to continue to help them, their situation became desperate. In answer to the appeal from French societies interested in them, the American Red Cross has just shipped food to the nineteen villages to provide half the daily rations of these 3,000 Alsatis for ten months.

The shipment included 13,200 pounds of condensed milk, 13,200 pounds of flour, 1,100 pounds of sugar, 6,000 pounds of dried peas, 2,200 pounds of rice and 3,200 pounds of tinned meat.

Bryan is a farmer hailing from and was pronounced a perfect specimen of manhood.

Dewey hails from Niagara, Neb.,

IN WAR TIME

By LIZZIE M. PEABODY.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Wearing her brother's farming clothes Harriet Wynne, with mischievous black eyes, cheeks glowing through tan, and her thick dark hair cut short, looked as nearly like a healthy, handsome boy as a girl could look, as she planted and hoed, on the sunny hillside of her father's farm.
Suddenly she threw down the hoe, examined the blistered palms of her hands, and then glanced at the sun.
It's near lunch time, she thought.

Dropping to the ground, she pulled the wide, soft brim of her hat over her face, shut her eyes and rolled away on her course toward the fragrant purple lilac bush, which grew near the open gateway by the quiet country road.

Meanwhile the shade and blooms had tempted young Sergeant Ames, and he had just seated himself on the old bench beneath the big bush when he espied the supposed boy rolling toward him. That is how it happened that Miss Harriet arrived at the goal flushed, breathless and smiling, to look into the eyes of the young soldier, who strangely in the kind uniform of the U. S. A.

Her first thought was to apologize for her untidy behavior; her second was to ask him if he was possible the part which she had assumed. "Rolling stones gather no moss, but rolling boys gather lots of mud and grass stains," remarked the stranger; and Harriet, ashamed, angry and a bit envious, for she envied the light of every man to wear a soldier's uniform, copied her brother's manner as she tartly replied:
"I suppose you've heard of the man who once made a fortune by minding his own business."

The sergeant laughed good naturedly as he said, "You win, but are you always so grouchy just before dinner time? I'm hungry enough to be grouchy myself." Harriet's answer was to reach hastily for her lunch and divide with him; and they grew very friendly, as they ate, although she talked very little, fearing to betray her secret.

Sergeant Ames, liking the shy boy, who proved to be such an attentive listener, talked freely. "Tomorrow," he said, "I go back to camp. Soon after that we shall be on our way to France, and we shall be glad to go. Our men are the equal of any in all the world, if not better than most."

Looking at his watch, he exclaimed,
"Well! 'Tis time to go!" and rose from the bench.

It was then that Harriet, as she saw him standing there looking "every inch a soldier," suddenly discovered that wherever this boy went her heart would go with him. "Shall I write?" he asked, and she answered eagerly:
"If you will. I am Harry Wynne of Hillcrest." "I am Joe Ames," he returned, "and will send my address." Then he strode away after saying goodby; and for Harriet, the long waiting time began. After a seemingly endless time the letter came. A brave and cheerful letter; and among camp happenings he wrote: "O Boy of the Lilac Bush, you never can imagine things as they are here, or the thrill with which we think of the wonderful things which may happen between dawn and dusk, and dusk and dawn; but I'm glad to be here to do a man's part."

She wrote him cheery, courage-inspiring letters as the dreary winter passed, and then a letter came from a kindly nurse who wrote that he was in the hospital and wounded.

Harriet sat down to write immediately, hoping to catch the next mail; and wrote so hurriedly that she had no time to read what she had written; but she had not heard from him since.
She was thinking of him as she sat knitting on the vine-shaded, flowerscented porch one beautiful afternoon, and looked up quickly as a man stepped up onto the porch floor. Suddenly her face went white, as with a hasty, pained glance she noted the empty sleeve; and she rose quickly, and with a sob threw her arms around his neck.

The pretty girl in the fluffy white dress had entirely forgotten her role as a boy, but when the newly promoted Lieutenant Ames, rising nobly to the occasion, placed his right arm around her and gently drawing her to a chair, sat down beside her, she remembered, and blushing deeply, whispered: "Had you guessed?" "Not until your last letter," he replied, softly, "although all your letters puzzled me. I wondered how a mere boy could write such wise, helpful, hopeful letters. In the last, I think you forgot the part you were playing, and wrote your thoughts as they came to you. When I reread this: 'Every day my heart and thoughts go out to you, and every day I pray for your safe return,' I stopped to review in my mind the little incidents of the day I met you, and it came to me that a little black-eyed girl had been joking, and that the joke had been upon yours truly; but I enjoyed it so immensely that the doctors and nurses wondered at my suddenly regained spirits and frequent smiles.
Soon after that, I was ordered home."

"And you will stay over here now?" asked Harriet, wistfully.

"I don't know," he answered thoughtfully, "but work which will count for our side will be found for my good right arm, and if you will agree to help me continue to keep my faith and courage, I can still help to 'carry on.'"

"I agree," Harriet said, with sparkling eyes.

TRENCHES OF SANDBAGS.

(By Associated Press.)

London, July 20.—British sandbags, as well as British soldiers, have played an important part in the recent fighting in Italy. Since last fall, more than three million sandbags have been sent to Italy from this country. Parts of the Italian line, owing to the nature of the soil, had to be above ground, and trenches were built up completely of sandbags the reason being that near the river, trenches and dugouts could not be constructed, as the water lay within a foot of the ground level.

CENSOR SCIENCE NEWS

Popular Articles Divulge Secrets to the Foe.

Even French Academy of Sciences Innocently Gives Facts Useful to Enemy.

Paris.—How popular science discusses in the daily and magazine press conveys information to the enemy and how even great national institutions like the French academy of sciences sometimes innocently divulge secrets which the enemy finds useful is told by a writer in La Liberté, who protests against the indiscriminate propagation of technical information. The writer comments on the fact that the academy of sciences has suggested that the censorship be rendered more effective by the addition of a few savants who will be able to recognize valuable scientific information when they see it.

In the view of the academy the press has been allowed, more by negligence than ignorance, to print much scientific information the importance of which escaped the editors and which should have been kept secret.
The columns of matter relating to the German long-range gun form a case in point. M. Charles Le Goffic, a scientific writer of note, writing on this subject, says that the press has indulged in a veritable orgy of details concerning the experiments in progress in France to extend the range of the heavy artillery. Plans of shells and guns, he alleges, have even been published.

LOSES ALL HER RELATIVES

Seeing her castle destroyed and her old servants murdered by the Huns was the trying ordeal experienced by Dr. Antoinette d'Arctagnan, a French woman doctor, now in the United States. She is the last of that name in France. She has been wounded and gassed, receiving medals from King Albert of Belgium and General Petain.
Her chateau was within three miles of the Belgian border when the Germans came and destroyed everything, including rare works of art, tapestries, paintings and everything they could lay their hands on. Nothing now remains but a pile of stones to mark this once beautiful castle. She hopes to recover her health in this country, far from the scenes of horror that she has witnessed, and then intends to return to help the American woman doctors in France.

"WOPS," "BOHUNKS,"
ETC., BANNED

Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga.—
"Wops," "dagoes," "bohunks" and similar names may not hereafter be applied to non-English-speaking soldiers at Camp Gordon. General Sage has issued an order requiring soldiers and officers to so conduct themselves toward non-English-speaking soldiers that no prejudice, antipathies or humiliation may arise.

NEAR-TOBACCO KILLS HUNS

Substitute Used by Teutons Is Tamed
More Deadly Than Enemy
Gas Attacks.

Amsterdam.—The tobacco substitute supplied to the German army has proved more injurious than enemy gas attacks, Deputy Mueller of Meis-ingen asserted in the reichstag. The substitute is composed of beech leaves, says the Koelnische Zeitung. On behalf of the army administration General von Oven admitted that further delivery of the substitute has been stopped.

SPY IS NEUTRAL; SELLS TO BOTH

Nimble Swiss Gets French and German Money, but Lands in Prison.

IS CONVICTED WITH OTHERS

Republic Anxious to Keep Out of Trouble, but is Nest of Plotters—Espionage Trials Daily Occurrence.

Berne.—A remarkable spying feat was executed by a Swiss citizen named Luginbuhl. He succeeded in getting paid from both sides, the French as well as the Germans, receiving profitable favors from both, and finally landed in the meshes of Swiss law.
Luginbuhl was one of twenty-one defendants in a celebrated espionage case just concluded in a local court.
With one exception all were found guilty, including Luginbuhl. Sentence was deferred.

Luginbuhl was anxious to buy wool waste in France. He wanted to sell it in Germany where he could get an immense price for it. To get the wool out of France Luginbuhl had to obtain permission from the French authorities. He got into touch with French agents and spies doing business in Switzerland, who afterward were his codefendants in the trial, and upon his promise that he would make a trip into Germany, find out certain things the French spies were anxious to know and report back, he would obtain permission to take the wool out of France.

Told Germans of Deal.
To sell the wool in Germany Luginbuhl made his trip into the Kaiser's domain, as promised, but he did more than he had promised. He told German officials all about the deal he had made with the French spies, whereupon the Germans were kind enough to write a report which Luginbuhl took back to Switzerland and handed over to his French friends, who paid him $800 for it. Luginbuhl at that time already had in his pocket the handsome profit he had made on the sale of French wool in Germany. What the Germans had paid him for double-crossing the French was not disclosed during the trial.

It took eight days to try the case.
Mourgeot, a French officer, was the principal defendant in absentia. He had escaped before he could be arrested. The judge in pronouncing the verdict of guilty said Mourgeot had broken the word of honor given by an officer when he escaped from a hospital. He was found guilty of having organized the French spy system in Switzerland. He hired German deserters to tell him all they knew. All this was, however, only a minor offense, according to Swiss law.

Had Many Activities.
His principal crime was treason committed against the Swiss republic.
He observed the movement of Swiss troops near the French border and kept the French army command posted about them. He hired men to watch the transportation of cattle. He tried to poison cattle in railroad trains by putting poison in the cars. He organized a conspiracy to foment a strike in the aluminum works at Chippis, which were sending goods to Germany, and tried to destroy the electrical plant at Waidshut.

Three of his tools were Frenchmen, who also succeeded in eluding the Swiss law. It was discovered at the trial that these men made it their business to buy factories that were selling to Germany. They bought the factories with French money and made an immense profit for themselves by the transaction.

The most prominent of the Swiss defendants was Dr. Bruestlein, a lawyer.
Revelations disclosing his activities created a sensation in all Switzerland. The court condemned him severely. Among the other defendants were a Swiss army sergeant and an army policeman. Both were found guilty of taking French money for furnishing information about army movements.

Novada, Mo.—Mrs. S. H. Mellet, owner of a small home bakery here, has received word from the war department she will receive $10,000 insurance on the life of Thomas H. Price, a soldier who recently died from the accidental discharge of a gun aboard a transport.

Price came here several years ago, ill and penniless. Mrs. Mellet took him to her home, nursed and cared for him until he was well, and then helped him secure a job. Assigning of his war risk insurance to her was the only way he could show his gratitude, he told her, just before leaving.

HENRY-HARNED WEDDING

A beautiful wedding ceremony was solemnized recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Henry, when their oldest daughter, Kathryn Glenn, was united in marriage with Mr. Edward Porter Harned. Rev. G. F. McNaughten, pastor of the M. E. church of Grandview, officiated in the presence of a company of relatives and friends. Preceding the ceremony, which took place upon the lawn, Schubert's Serenade was sung by Mrs. L. E. Foster and J. Wilson Henry. The wedding march by Mendelssohn was played by Mrs. L. E. Foster. The attendants were Mr. George Shaw and Miss Eleanor Henry, sister of the bride. The bride was beautifully gowned in white crepe-de-chine and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Later refreshments of ices and cakes were served, carrying out the color scheme of white and pink. The heart shaped individual cakes were ornamented with pink sweet peas as was also the beautiful bride's cake which afforded much merriment by the drawing of pink and white ribbons for the usual wedding cake emblems.

Mrs. Harned is a graduate of the Hopkinsville High School. The first two years of the course having been taken in the Evansville, Ind., High School before the removal of the family to this city. Since her graduation she has been an efficient teacher in the Christian county schools.

Mr. E. P. Harned is a well known citizen of Christian county and is engaged in the general mercantile business at Honey Grove, Ky. Many beautiful wedding presents were received from relatives and friends in Kentucky and Indiana.

The young couple went at once to their home, their address being Hopkinsville, R. F. D. No. 8.
